UM TO HOST FIRST DH+DJ SYMPOSIUM

September 29 - October 1

The University of Miami is launching the first Digital Humanities and Data Journalism (DH+DJ) Symposium. It will take place at the Newman Alumni Center between Sept. 29 – Oct. 1 and is being sponsored by Knight Foundation, the School of Communication, Center for Computational Science, Richter Library and the College of Arts and Sciences.

The DH+DJ symposium will bring together two communities that share similar interests, face similar challenges, and use largely the same software tools and programming languages to interrogate data. It will be a relatively small gathering with an attendance limit of 150, and will consist of a series of talks, roundtables and workshops on topics that are important to both areas and to their intersection, such as big data management and analytics, effective communication, data visualization and infographics, mapping, etc.

Sign up for the symposium. Click here for more information.
