

COMPLIANCE™

To Fans and Friends of the University of Miami Athletics,

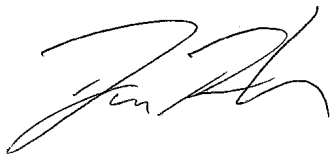

Compliance with NCAA and ACC rules, and State of Florida law, is of utmost importance to the University of Miami and its Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. Athletics compliance is the responsibility of everyone associated with the University of Miami's athletics program, including coaches, student-athletes, athletics department personnel, faculty, staff, volunteers, alumni, boosters and other supporters of the University of Miami. The Compliance Office is charged with leading and coordinating the University of Miami's compliance efforts and shall act as a resource for internal and external constituencies regarding NCAA and ACC compliance issues.

It is critical that all of us do our part to learn and abide by NCAA rules that impact the University of Miami's student-athletes, recruits, coaches, and boosters. The goals of the Athletics Compliance Department are to:

- Educate coaches, student-athletes, staff and supporters regarding NCAA and ACC rules, State of Florida law where applicable, and the compliance expectations of the University of Miami.
- Control and operate the athletics program in accordance with all applicable NCAA, ACC, State of Florida law and institutional rules to maintain a culture of compliance.
- Monitor all aspects of the University's athletics programs to ensure compliance; identify and report to the NCAA all instances in which compliance has not been achieved; and affirm that appropriate corrective actions are taken.
- To serve coaches, student-athletes, staff and supporters by providing accurate and timely interpretations of the rules and assisting them in their compliance efforts.
- Help all fans and friends of the University of Miami's athletics program comply with all applicable NCAA, ACC, State of Florida, and institutional rules.

Please contact the University of Miami Compliance Department with any questions regarding NCAA or ACC regulations at athleticscompliance@miami.edu or 305-284-8232. ASK BEFORE YOU ACT!

Sincerely,

Dan Raben

Associate Athletic Director, Compliance
